Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

In this issue we have called attention to progress made in the building industry in Nevada City, Grass Valley and the rest of the county. It is four years ago today that this newspaper passed into the present management. In that time employment in the lines has increased from 1200 men approximately to over 2700 today. This influx of miners has meant greatly added personnel in all these lines which serve miners and the mining industry. Stores have doubled their service staffs. There are more professional men ,doctors and lawyers than four years ago. The population of the county has almost doubled.

All this new population needed housing and their wants have been taken care of. Lumber yards have expanded two fold. Contractors have been busy as never before in twenty years. Carpenters have worked steadily at good wages. Plumbers, lathers, paper hangers, electricians have found steadier employment than for a long time past. Lumber mills have sprung into activity and lumbering is again an industry which can claim a good secondary rank. During the past year building construction has marched with population needs.

Old homes have been renovated and modernized. New homes of splendid, modern comfort have been erected. But this is only a running start. There are hundreds of homes in this county which are badly in need of repair or modernization. In many cases the bath room still opens off the kitchen. The bath room fixtures are of the kind that Mr. Ford buys for his extensive collection of ancient and superceded Americana. There is much to be done. In some instances, home owners are planning to tear down the old structure and build anew. Thorough going modernization plans are being made by others. The New Year will probably see a consolidation in gains made during the two or three years past, that is to say, the standard of comfort, home living will continue to be advanced.

Nevada City has taken its place in the front rank of mountain cities. One great new school building to house upwards of 600 elementary students is practically completed, and the school children will move into it on the opening of the term. The capacity of the high school has been practically doubled and a new auditorium built. This too will be occupied with opening of school. Two tennis courts, and a terraced athletic field for football and other sports have been constructed. Nevada City has constructed a modern city hall that will be a source of justified pride to every resident here, when completed, and—don't laugh—that day grows measurably nearer.

The county board of supervisors has remodeled and virtually remade the court house and is adding a great new annex to the county hospital. Usually public improvements lag behind private building, but in this instance our public officials have kept pace with individual initiative. The street improvement, a steady advance in making Pioneers Park a center for community recreation and activity are among other evidences of an aroused progressive community spirit. Nevada City, in the past year, undoubtedly records a greater stride forward than in the last forty years. This year. our conservative business men believe, we will shift from second into high.

ENGLEBRIGHTS GO EAST ON STREAM-LINED TRAIN

Monday afternoon Congressman Mrs. Harry L. Englebright and son Jackson left for Washington on the stream-lined train City of San Francisco. The congressional session opens on January 5th. Englebright will be in Washington a few days before the sessions start to confer with party leaders.

Miss Geraldine Brown of Sacramento is spending the New Year holidays in Nevada City visiting friends and relatives.

Heaviest Snow Fall Since Winter of 1933

The heaviest snow storm since 1933 piled up 18 inches on the level Wednesday and Wednesday night. It has caused inconvenience in driving cars and has, at intervals, disrupted electric and telephone service. The local street crew cleared snow from the streets through Wednesday night until four o'clock Thursday morning. During yesterday afternoon the sun came out for short periods softening the snow. Later the city snow plow cleared Broad street for traffic and for those wishing to attend the masquerade ball last evening. Many snow laden limbs were broken from trees.

A serious threat for a time was the blocking of the Snow Mountain and Cascade ditches of the Nevada Irrigation District which carry water to the reservoirs of Nevada City, early Thursday morning. Crews were sent out early and were on the job late last evening. There is plenty of water in the reservoirs but the ditches will have to be kept open to prevent a water famine similar to that of four years ago Nick Sandow's job yesterday was shoveling snow from the city fire hydrants.

Steve Matteoda, mail carrier between Nevada City and Graniteville went as far as Blue Tent yesterday morning and found three feet of snow. He stated he had sent all first class mail via "pony express" from that point. Supervisor C. S. Arbogast went out on the road with snow plow and equipment. The tractor broke down causing some delay.

The ridge route to Alleghany was blocked with snow during the first storm and reports Wednesday were the Foote road was closed as far as Columbia Hill. Alpha Stores of Nevada City sent a truck load of freight to Alleghany Wednesday, Joe Sbaffi, driver, went as far as Columbia Hill and a tractor took supplies to Alleghany from there. There are over six feet of snow at Alleghany.

The Plaza Grocery of this city called into delivery service Fred Zanocco, his sleigh and sturdy team of horses for delivery of groceries about Nevada City.

Electricity went off in Nevada City at an early hour Thursday morning throwing the city in darkness. O. McCraney. superintendent of the Ragon mine stated electricity went off at 3 o'clock and miners were unable to work.

P. G. & E. crews were sent to the property during the afternoon. Otherwise Mr. McCraney would have had to pull the pumps and would have been at large expense to unwater the shaft. The electric line to the Murchie and Hoge mines is on a different system and gave no trouble.

Mr. Fred Garrison superintendent of the highway maintenance, states the Yuba Pass is closed above Sierra City. On the Tahoe-Ukiah highway at Steep Hollow there is six feet of snow. Mr. Garrison has eight snow plows at work, day and night, the crews working three shifts.

E. J. Haversock, mail carrier between Nevada City and Washington, is having considerable trouble with snow, there being 42 inches at the junction of the Washington road and the Tahoe-Ukiah 13 miles east of Nevada City. The road was opened Monday by Supervisor Arbogast and new snow has piled up since then.

The Downieville stage driver came through yesterday forenoon in his big motor stage and stated there were 48 inches of snow on the ground in that city.

Miss Snyder and Miss Gladys Bennyhoff, camp fire girls executives from Oakland and a group of girls arrived in Nevada City yesterday to go to the Oakland Camp on Lake Vera for New Years and snow sports. Their car stalled on the summit at Sugar Loaf and they returned to this city and purchased a toboggan, placed their supplies on it and hiked the three miles to camp. Miss Rhea Rupert is at Piedmont camp with friends for the New Years celebration.

The telephone service between Nevada City and Downieville, Alleghany, Bloomfield, Graniteville and Washington was disrupted and the crews under Superintendent Hoff were endeavoring to find the breaks and repair them. The trunk line to Auburn and Sacramento was out for several hours yesterday.

TAHOE-UKIAH HIGHWAY TO ADD ANOTHER LINK

Another link in the famed Tahoe-Ukiah highway is being constructed from the Nevada-Yuba county line to the Parks Bar bridge.

The present road is full of dangerous turns and grades. A new road is being built between the Parks Bar bridge and the county line and will avoid many of the present hazards that present themselves in the now widely used road.

The work is being done by the Chegis Construction Company of San Francisco. Trucks, steam shovels and many man and other equipment are being used on the construction and it is to be completed by spring. The state highway resident engineer in charge is William Remington.

With the completion of the re-surfacing of the Grass Valley-Nevada City highway, another link of the famed highway and this new road, the Tahoe-Ukiah higway will be one of the most scenic and comfortable roads in the state. The work on the Nevada-Yuba county line to Parks Bar bridge is about seventy five per cent completed.

Loss of the sight of his right eye is the possibility faced by William Hoe, employed on the court house construction, as the result of an injury caused by a snowball. The snowball was thrown by an unknown boy or man. Dr. W. P. Sawyer, to whose office Hoe was taken, said that the blow had caused a hemorrhage and that sight may be destroyed, although there is a 50-50 chance of recovery.

MODERN THRILLS ENJOYED BY 90 YEAR OLD WOMAN

Mrs. Samuel Clutter, ninety years young, revered pioneer of Nevada Citl, again demonstrated her courage to do remarkable things at her age when she left this city early on Monday morning in several inches of snow to cross the bay bridge. She motored to the city with her daughter, Mrs. Lulu Jones and granddaughter. Miss Hazel Jones, returning the same evening.

Mrs. Clhtter is full of vim and energy, although crippled at times with rheumatism, gets about remarkably well. Several years ago she stated that she wished to take an airplane ride and also to ride over the then proposed bay bridge. She had her airplane ride about two years ago and was thrilled, stating it was an even better ride than she had anticipated. Meyers Mobley of Nevada City saw that she had her airplane ride and accompanied her on the trip. A snap shot kodak picture was taken of Mrs. Clutter, Dr. Carl Jones and Dr. W. W. Reed at the airport just after the ride.

Meyers Mobley had the picture enlarged and presented it to her as a Mother's day gift.

Mrs. Clutter visited the bay bridge several months ago while it was under construction and waited impatiently for the time when she could cross over it. She was delighted in traveling over the bridge last Monday she resolved that she would live to take a ride over the Golden Gate bridge which is nearing completion She will be 90 years old in April.

QUICK RESPONSE SAVES BEAUTIFUL HOME

Fire, which it is thought started from either an overheated chimney or electric wiring, called both fire trucks of the Nevada City Fire Department to the two story home of Mrs. Martha Hoge at Nevada City's northern limits yesterday forenoon.

The firemen found the blaze running between the first and second floors and the inner outer walls. Several holes were cut into the walls to enable the men to reach the fire and considerable damage was done by fire and water. Firemen had to wade through deep snow to get to the house. The beautiful home and park like grounds of th Hoge property are one of the show places of Nevada City.

Twin Cities Headed For Another Big Year Of Building Activity

Nevada City is prosperous and every day it is looking more prosperous. Paint does it. New roofs help do it. A pleasant flower garden, when spring comes, puts on the finishing touch. But new homes are springing up. Two years ago few people lived on the Red Dog road between Boulder street and the Murchie mine entrance. Today there are two score homes along that road. Stately residences have gone up on the old turnpike road to Grass Valley on the top of Town Talk and down its slope. Gold Flat is resuming building activity. Along the Tahoe-Ukiah highway, east of Nevada City, new cottages have been erected. Out in Indian Flat is a new young village.

Nevada City and environs, Grass Valley and its neighborhoods, such as Hills Flat, are growing and growing fast. And there have been no growing pains. The growing, reflecting prosperity, has also added to prosperity. New homes and better homes everywhere have become, no longer a luxury, as they were during the depression, but are a necessity. in just the same sense, only on a larger scale, that the latest household appliances, or new model automobiles, have become.

NEW HOMES ON EVERY ROAD

Along any road, radiating from Nevada City or Grass Valley, new homes. new service stations or inns, bright in their new paint, greet the eye. This, by all signs and omens will be a year of great building activity. The Federal government is helping now, and probably will continue to help home owners to new homes or modernized homes during 1937.

The modernization and enlargement of the new county courthouse is nearing completion and is expected to be ready for use about the end of February. Work was started in June, 1935. At that time only the addition of one wing, the left wing, was contemplated.

The new part of the structure is composed of concrete reinforced with fabricated steel. The outside of the whole court house will be finished in white plaster with a copper trim.

New additions to the building consist of new fourth story, east and west wings which extend three quarters of the length of the sides of the building. and an extension of all three old stories to twenty feet further to the front than they had previously been. The cost of these improvements amounts to about ninety thousand dollars. The enlargements will make it possible for all county officers to have their headquarters in the new building. Even the jail is to be enlarged and made lighter by the addition of larger windows.

Nearly five thousand sacks of cement will have been used before the work is finished.

BIG, MODERN LOBBY

The inside is being remodeled. Many partitions have been broken out, the whole inside has been painted and a brand new lobby and stairs have been constructed. The lobby and stairs are made of a new building material — terrazo. which is crushed marble used in the same manner as concrete is usually used. The terrazo columns in the lobby will be brightly trimmed in aluminum, as will be the large lighted showcase.

These features, with the installation of an Otis automatic elevator, make the Nevada county court house one of the best and most modern in Northern California.

The work during the pas four and one half months has progressed rapidly under the direction of R. I. Gunn, who is superintending the job for Lindgren and Swinerton. Sacramento contractors.

NEW GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Nevada City people who have noticed the progress of the new courthouse have also been interested in Nevada City's new modern Spanish-type grammar school. The tiled roof and stuccoed walls of this building make it one of the most attractive of the many new buildings of Nevada county.

There are two wings of class rooms. In the wing facing toward the east on Main street there are ten classrooms, and in the southern wing at Cottage street there are two classrooms and the new auditorium. The new school house is built in the shape of a letter L with Mr. Carlson's office just in back of the vestibule opening on the main entrance which is at the apex of the L angle.

TWELVE CLASS ROOMS

When school opens on January 4. eleven of the twelve classrooms will be in use. The classrooms are about 25 by 40 feet. There is an electric clock in every room. All the clocks are coordinated by a master electric clock in the principal's office. A fire alarm system is connected with the clocks. Heating is done by a central oil burner, which has outlets in all the rooms.

A room has been provided for a school clinic, which will be under the direction of Mrs. Heffelfinger. There is also a special room for the teachers. Floors of the halls are of concrete. The spacious auditorium has a maple floor and is complete with a large stage and footlights. Classrooms have floors constructed of Oregon pine. There are plenty of modern, sanitary drinking fountains

MASKED BALL PROFIT TO BUY FIRE EQUIPMENT

Proceeds of the 30th annual masquerade ball of the Nevada City Fire Department will go towards fire fighting equipment. Not even snow kept away dancers and merrymakers from this gayest civic event of the year. Recently the firemen purchased a new fire truck chassis and fitted it out with funds derived from previous masquerade balls. All who supported the firemen's ball knew that they were enabling the men who make up the fine volunteer department to keep Nevada City's fire losses down to a minimum.

The ball was given in Armory Hall which was purchased by the firemen for their own and other public affairs. Doors opened at 7:30 and a good introductory program by local talent started the fun. Music for the dancers was furnished by the Abbott orchestra.

NEVADA COUNTY PIONEER IS CRITICALLY ILL

Mrs. Louisa B. Nicholson, Nevada rounty pioneer, is critically ill at her home on the old home place west of the Champion mine on Deer Creek. Mrs. Nicholson has reared a sturdy family of sons and daughters. One son, the late Harry Nicholson, was sheriff of White Pine county, Nevada for several terms; another son, the late George Nicholson, employed by the state division of forestry was burned to death in a fierce fire near Quaker Hill several years ago; Mrs. Annie Whiting and Mrs. Ida Cole of Grass Valley and Miss Mamie Nicholson, who is at home, are the daughters. Another son, Alfred Nicholson, also lives at the ranch home.

Looking Into The Future

On this dawn of a new year when men are wondering what momentous things the future holds, it is interesting to reflect that the most momentous of all possibilities is not war, nor the triumphs or failure of economic systems, nor the fate of empires and dictatorships.

It is what science may achieve in its struggle to release and harness atomic power.

lot of fantastic flim flam has been written about smashing the atom and tapping its energy. But the truth is science move[illegible] nearer to that miracle, and its accomplishment would profoundly affect very phase of civilization that it would usher in a new world, as different from today's world as today's is different from that of ancient Egypt.

Power would be literally as abundant as the air we breathe. Mankind would no longer have to turn to coal mines or oil or forests for sources of energy. Nations would not fight for resources. Why should they? With a pint of water you could drive an ocean liner across the Atlantic. A tank full of water would run your automobile for a year.

Of course it is not likely that 1937 will see atomic power harnessed. But it may not be so remote as you think. A respected science editor said of it not long ago: "The greatest revolution (in life's pattern) that the world has ever seen is in the making. It may begin tomorrow. It may not arrive for 50 years. But let me repeat, it may arrive tomorrow."

And so it may, despite those who laugh. The scoffers laughed once you remember, at the steamboat known as Fulton's folly.—Contributed.

CHILD BEATER GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE

A penalty of 90 days in jail was imposed upon Paul Beltz, confessed child beater, by Judge W. L. Mobley, Tuesday afternoon. Complaint was made by Probation Officer A. W. McGagin. The charge was that Beltz had severely beaten one of his children. The judge believed that a period in jail or a fine would work more hardship on the family than to the offender so granted the suspended sentence.

A happy family reunion was spent at the home of Mrs. George Downey on Drummond street. Out of town relatives present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sherwood, Earl Smittcamp, Miss Margaret Smittcamp, of Kerman, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Beatty, Sanger, Miss Retha Downey, Smartville. Miss Smittcamp has remained for a longer visit but the other family members left yesterday in the midst of a snow storm.

Pointing the way to greater opportunities,
Bidding us, "March Forward—Banners Flying!"

Capital Business
Compiled by Sacramento Chamber of Commerce

SACRAMENTO. Dec. 31. — California's lawmakers return to the capital city next week for the 52nd legislative session.

On January 4th they gather to hear Governor Frank Finley Merriam's biennial message.

For the first time in the state's history, the Democrats will be in control of the assembly. By a margin of five votes, the Republicans control the senate.

Trend that legislation will take is not yet perceptible, although it is certain that there will be many ideas, new and old launched on the legislators in the form of bills.

Governor Merriam has warned "no new taxes" no increase in expenditures—stay within the 1935-37 budget of $431,000,000."

Definite attempts are going to be made to repeal or reduce the sales tax, institute severance taxes on natural resources and put over transactions and special taxes.

Relief is to be a major issue with counties and state battling to put it off on each other.

Liquor control and administration will receive a good share of attention.

Labor claims strength and plans to use it.

All is serene at the capitol now. Next week the fireworks start.

A new feature of the fifth annual Winter Sports Carnival Queen contest and ball to be held January 9 has been announced by the Winter Sports Committee of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce. Prizes will be awarded to the ski clubs bringing the greatest number of members to the carnival clad in winter sports garments. The first prize will be $25 and the second prize $15. Ten clubs plan to enter candidates in the queen contest. Admission is free. Tickets may be obtained from ski clubs or Sacramento merchants.

Guns of the law are being leveled on bookmakers. The State Horse Racing Board has announced it plans an attempt to change the present pari mutuel betting law making it illegal for agents to place bets at the race tracks and to receive any remuneration for this service. This is in direct answer to F. J. (Butch) Nisetich, Sacramento bookmaker, who offered his patrons a direct wire telephone service to the Santa Anita race track where his agents placed bets on the pari mutuel margins. This is said to be legal, but not in the spirit of the law.

A new "home" for the $15,000,000 collection of pictures in the famous Crocker Art Gallery in Sacramento came a step nearer this week when the Crocker heirs granted their permission to move the collection to some new location, as yet not selected. Movement to provide a new gallery was started this summer when it was pointed out that the present gallery is not fireproof and is unsafe as a continued location for the pictures, many of which are considered priceless.

Several thousand visitors paraded through the new $750,000 motor vehicle building when it was opened to the public Monday. The four-story structure is the last word in modernity.

Around the Dome — California's population will double in the next decade, Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan predicted in a New Year's statement. The state department of finance has completed its preliminary 1937-39 budget for submission to the legislature next week—Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works, favors state purchase of the Carquinez bridge, but the price must be low enough to reduce tolls and still pay off the bonds, in other words, about $4,000,000.

Capitol Comment—The state printing plant has saved California's taxpayers half a million dollars in the last year according to State Printer George Moore. Further savings are expected by increased orders in 1937 and because all legislative matter, heretofore given away, will be sold. Controller Ray L. Riley signed a check for $8,250,000 this week, transferring collections from employers and employees of the state into the unemployment insurance fund of the federal government. Governor Merriam has announced he will appoint two new members of the state railroad commission about January first.

State revenue in the 1937-39 biennium will top the unprecedented figure of $330,000,000. pay off the general fund deficit and leave a surplus of $19,000,000 in the state treasury, if the estmate of Controller Ray L. Riley is correct. Riley says his estimate is based on accurate figures and rising commodity prices and increased payrolls.

Sacramento's police are on the trail of pyromaniacs whose fires have caused damage in excess of $420,000 in the last two weeks. So far, clues have been meagre, but the fires, in two large downtown stores (Grant's and Woolworth's), an electrical store and two machine shops, have pointed the finger of suspicion at a pair of bungling safecrackers who so far have failed in attempts to loot money boxes. The city, on the other hand, is looking for a new police chief following the resignation of William M. Hallanan, chief since 1929.

FRANCES M. BUTZ BORNE TO REST

The funeral of the late Mrs. Frances Marie Butz was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the chapel of the Holmes Funeral Home in Nevada City.

Frances Marie Butz, 38 years of age, passed away Monday evening from complications occurring in childbirth. The death of this beloved mother and friend came as a great shock to her family and many friends in Nevada county.

Mrs. Butz was born at Shady Creek and attended the public schools at Montezuma Hill and the Nevada City high school. She graduated from the high school with high honors and then passed the county teachers' examinations and taught at Indian Flat for two years.

Fifteen years ago she became the wife of Walter E. Butz. Besides her husband she leaves four little children in the happy home she was so suddenly and unexpectedly taken from. Her home was her castle, in it she gave her utmost devotion and care to her loved ones. From it her sincere and lovely personality radiated to her friends and the community. She was very active in the affairs of California highway maintenance station members and always entered into their social affairs as one of their most popular members.

Besides her husband, Walter E. Butz, and four children, Louis Frances, Helen Josephine, Walter E. and Donald J. are bereaved.

Also surviving her and greatly mourning her passing are her mother, Mrs. Mary Lutz of Nevada City, and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Amelia A. Cunningham of North San Juan; Mrs. Martha Kriegel of Auburn; Otto Lutz of Ashland, Oregon and Mervyn Lutz of Nevada City. Mrs. Clara F. Poston of Nevada City is an aunt and there are also a number of nephews and nieces.

WINTER DRIVING RULES BY MOTOR SERVICE MAN

"If your car starts skidding, turn the front wheels in the direction of the skid; at the same time take your foot off the accelerator gradually. The best way to gain confidence in correcting a skid is to take your car out on a wide, deserted strip of pavement made slippery by rain or ice and practice these instructions. Then you will know just what to do when your car starts to skid.

"The tecnique of professional racing provides a clue to the best way of taking curves and turns. These men apply the brakes when approaching the turn, enter it at a reduced speed, and accelerate as they come out on the straight-away. This method makes steering effective and puts the car under control — and makes it unnecessary to jam on the brakes in the middle of a curve (a dangerous practice).

"When going up a hill, shift into second gear as soon as your speed gets down to 20 miles an hour. Use the same gear going down a hill as you used in going up it.

"When starting in mud or sand put the car in second gear—or even in high—and release the cluth pedal slowly, so as not to spin the wheels. If the wheels spin, they invariably dig themselves in.

"In going down long hills—whether in second or high gear—the efficient way to slow up the car is by a succession of 'snubbing' actions of the brake rather than by a continuous pressure on the pedal.

"It is almost impossible to set specific rules for safe speeds because of the varying conditions that every driver encounters. Depend on your speedometer to tell you whether you are keeping within a safe speed limit.

"When one wheel runs off the pavement, take your foot off the accelerator, hold the wheels straight, and allow the car to slow down gradually until it can be brought back onto the road without jar or sway.

"If a tire blows out hold the car steady until the car slows down to a speed that is safe for stopping. Then apply the brakes gradually until the car has come to a stop. Don't follow the natural inclination to jam on the brakes."

Slippery pavements are common at this time of year. "When driving on them, the best rule to follow is, do everything slowly. Start slowly, accelerate slowly, stop slowly, and above all drive slowly. When applying the brakes, leave the clutch engaged until the car has almost stopped to prevent skidding. On very slippery streets, start in second or high gear to avoid spinning wheels or side slipping, but remember to engage the cultch gradually.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Deeble of San Francisco and Mrs. Deeble's mother, Mrs. Ann Carroll of Sacramento arrived Saturday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Dave Richards. Mr. Deeble returned home Sunday, the ladies will remain until Sunday.

LEGISLATORS IN 43 STATES TO MEET IN JAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 30.—No less than 43 state legislatures will be meeting within a week after Congress assembles in Washington in January. While many of them will consider problems common to all the,re will also be matters of peculiar concern to them individually.

For example, the Federal policy with regard to relief will have an important bearing on many state budgets, appropriation bills and tax measures. More than 30 of the legislatures will consider legislation to bring their states in line for the benefits under the Federal Social Security Act. Farm states will be particularly interested in legislation that will dove tail them into the national agricultural program.

Some of the individual problems that probably will come up may be listed as follows:

California—Simplification of the tax system, and the calling of a convention to revise the state constitution.

Georgia—School support, reorganization of the hoghway department and regulations and investigation of the previous administration.

Idaho — The establishment of a state police department.

Illinois — Prison conditions as a possible result of a report of the governor's prison commission.

Nevada—Ratification of the child labor amendment, amendment of the election laws and fis and game legislation.

Oklahoma—Revision of the sales tax.

Missouri — Increase in the sales tax, revision of the liquor laws and enactment of a driver's license law.

Montana—Problems arising from the repeal of the state insurance fund law.

Pennsylvania—Reorganization of state administrative procedure in the interest of ecenomy and efficiency.

South Carolina—Chain store and labor legislation.

Utah — Institution of the direct primary.

MRS. GOLDSMITH WRITES OF TRIP TO MEXICO CITY

Mr. and Mrs. Belnap Goldsmith and son. Warren have just returned from a months trip to Mexico City. Mrs. Goldsmith, while in Mexico City wrote some very interesting letters to friends in this city, excerpts from which are printed below.

There is now a fine highway from the borderline, Laredo, Texas, into Mexico City, and since it has been open Mexico City has been the objective of a great many American tourists. Vancouver is often an objective point in the summer months and now Mexico City at this time of year. Mrs. Goldsmith pictures a delightful trip at no great expense and no doubt it will stimulate many vacationists from this city to take the trip into Mexico.

VAN HORN, (Texas), Dec. 29.—Our trip has been most interesting although largely through desert country. It however has not been devoid of vegetation and the joshua trees and odd cacti are fascinating. The mountains are so bare, all the rocks and folded strata stand out. Some of the towns are most God-forsaken conglomeration of shacks surrounding mines and smelters. Water often has to be hauled in. Our own mining sections are a paradise by comparison. The irrigated sections are very striking after the desert, and believe it or not, I've seen more rain and mud in this arid country than for some time at home. It was foggy this morning and the service station man called it "California weather."

We heard our first Spanish today where we bought gas. Of course they addressed us in English but the attendants were Mexicans and Spanisn flowed rapidly, much too rapidly for me to know what it was all about. There seems to be a large Mexican population here and the adobe houses are interesting.

We've been staying at auto courts. It has been some time since we have stayed at these places and how they have improved. Nearly all are steam heated and have a private bath room. We eat our breakfast at the court, put up a lunch to eat while traveling and have dinner at restaurants. As we travel eastward the meals are getting worse. Today the resaturant window was decorated with two withered lemons and the meal was on a par with the decorations. Milk here is 20c a quart.

We are ahead of our scheulde and will probably reach Laredo by Tuesday noon and Mexico City in three more days.

MEXICO CITY—We arrived here at 5 p. m. It took us eight days to make the trip traveling about 350 miles per day. We followed the arrowa to the Shirley Auto Court which directed us around instead of through traffic. The next day we went down town and ran across Captain Chaplin and wife, formely of Shasta, now located in Redding, California. From them we learned of this "pension" where we are located. It is very pleasant, formerly a private home. We get two rooms and private bath, breakfast and a court in which to park our car for less than we paid at Shirley's Court for one room and two beds, a shower but no meals. It has a very Spanish atmosphere. Some of the servants speak English, some not. We get about very well, usually we find some one who speaks English, if not we try a word or two of our Spanish and we are getting to be pretty good at gestures.

We ate at Sarbourns. very grand, but if one is in a hurry, go elsewhere. Then while the natives slept we wandered about till I was so tired that I shall hereafter go more slowly. In the evening we attended a most interesting game, "Jai-alai" which originated in the Basque country of Spain. I will tell you more of it when I return. The Mexicans enjoy it largely because of the betting.

Today we visited Chapultepec Park and castle. It really resembled the pictures of a palace—most grand indeed. Now we are parked in a park while Warren rides about on a hired bicycle. We have tickets for the "vaca fights" tomorrow. Our gas, eats, etc., all expenses in California averaged about $11.00 per day for the three of us in California. In Mexico it is cheaper.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 9—Well the Goldsmiths went to the "vaca fight" We saw five out of six bulls killed. The picturesque and gay costumes were most interesting but the sport I am afraid, I did not appreciate. The bull is doomed and I do not believe I'd ever find baiting and wounding an animal until he was worn out, and then killing him as much fun, say as a basket ball game, or the Mexicans own game of "fron-ton" or "Jai-Alai" which are most interesting. We noticed one odd thing at the bull fight. One whole section was filled with men and boys with coats turned wrong side out, many in jeans. Soon we learned the reason, when they began to hurl fruit and small paper sacks of flour at each other. Its an old Mexican custom, one section of the stadium being reserved for this "sport."

We visited Pueblo today. We visited three lovely churches and saw onyx articles and tiles being made by hand in rooms in the rear of old houses. A small boy jumped on our running board and guided us to an odd shop on a back street where sarapes are made. He knew no English but we learned that he was seven, that the sarapes were "bonita" and where our road to Mexico City could be found. His name we could not get. It seemed very long and full of double "R's."

We love it here and are having a glorious time. I wish we could stay for months. We haven't become good ADD MEXXICO STORY ? bargainers in the market. I think we were badly cheated on a sarape we bought the other day.

Mangoes are not in season but I just discovered that we can buy them canned.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. —. —This will perhaps be my last letter from Mexico City as we shall leave Sunday morning. We have had a glorious time. Since writing we have been on several trips. The pyramids of Teotihuachen were extremely interesting. The largest is about two-thirds as high as the ones in Egypt. There are also most interesting carvings. Everything is very old, the Toltecs and Aztecs found them upon their arrival in Mexico.

On the way back we saw an old monestary at Acolman. We knew nothing about it but stopped out of curiosity. It proved to be, for us, the most interesting building we had seen. It is in considerable dis-repair but was fascinating with its six foot walls. After so many churches with their gold leaf this old medieval looking building was simple and charming, also I must confess, some what smelly. We wandered over it from the dark old kithen with its immense fire place to the roof over the barrel cault of the church. The cells of the monks were especially interesting. In front of each unglazed window was a stone seat and stone niche opposite for the feet, where the monk sat to read. The church was built about 1560 and one of the books in the library was printed in 1571.

Sunday we drove to Taxco, a wholly charming town built on the side of a mountain. It is the home of many artists. There is a beautiful cathedral here and several interesting curiosity shops. The streets are all paved with rough cobble stones and are very steep and narrow. I found when I walked about town that the pyramids were very difficult to climb.

We have found our way about very well but I'd hate to make a guess on how many times we use "donde este" in the course of our wanderings.

We shall probably start for home about December 20th.

The Old And The New

Farewell old year, you certainly bemused us
With several extraordinary things;
A wild campaign, peace confabs, strikes, disasters,
Unholy wars and two demoted kings;
But still you led us slowly forward
Toward many a long desired goal,
And so because of you we walk more firmely
Beneath high heaven's blue, inverted bowl.

The New Year comes, a bright engaging youngster
Whose speech we soon shall understand;
We find rare promises in his demeanor
And comfort in the pressure of his hand;
"Cooperation" is his ringing watch word—
If we give heed, I'm sure that Father Time
Will smile upon our Year when it is closing
And file it with the ones he deems sublime.

A year of time—twelve precious uncut jewels
Given for us to make or mar;
To leave defaced, unfit for regal setting,
Or fashioned to the glory of a star;
Now if our labor is unhampered
By petty envy, greed and craven fears,
We may evolve a rosary of splendor,
A shining pattern for all future years.

Farewell old year, again the bells are ringing,
For you they now intone the parting knell,
And then amid earth's joyous acclamations,
The coming of the New their voices tell;
And we who stand upon the threshold,
Bidding the past adieu,
Forget our former sins, mistakes and failures,
And with the ardent New Born Year begin anew.

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

TWIN CITIES PREPARE FOR BIG YEAR IN BUILDING ACTIVITY

throughout the halls and on the outside of the building.

STRUCTURE COST $117,000

Nothing has been overlooked by P. G. Scadden inspector for the school board, in his efficient and successful effort to make Nevada City's new grammar school one of the sturdiest and most modern in California. The new grammar school was constructed at a cost of $117,000. In the various steps in the completion of the building. Over two hundred men were employed. though never more than sixty were on the job at one time.

The addition of a new building to the high school is another important feature of Nevada City's great program of municipal buildings' construction. The new section of the high school fills a badly felt need for more classrooms and gymnasium. There are four good-sized new classrooms, a spacious gmnasium, and new boys' and girls' lavatories. The building is of the same style of architecture as the grammar school. The school rooms are arranged about a court.

The cast of these splendid new additions was $63,000, and during the construction one hundred and fifty men were employed.

HOSPITAL ANNEX

The new wing of the county hospital in Willow Valley is one of the many evidences of the progressive spirit of the people of Nevada county. The building is sturdily constructed of reinforced concrete. It has two stories and a basement. There are thirty six rooms. The large wards are 16 by 30 feet. and the small wards are 10 by 20 feet. All the rooms are floored with concrete covered with linoleum, and are warmed by a steam heating system. The architecture of the building is the same as that of the two old wings. with a plaster finish and tile roof.

The cost of the new building is $40,000, of which the WPA has provided a part. Only eight men are now employed, although at one time twenty eight men were at work on the job at once.

This substantial new building will provide room for the large surplus of patients that have created such a problem in regard to room in the past.

NEW CITY HALL

Nevada City's new ultra-modern city hall adds a brilliant note to the sombre melody of conservative structures along Broad street. If materials are not withheld in the coastwise shortage, caused in part by the shipping workers' strike. the completion of work on the building may be expected early in April. There is no more modern city hall in northern California, than this excellent building which is being constructed at the orders of our city council. The cost is approximately $35,000, much of which has come from the WPA.

ROOMS FOR CITY OFFICIALS

On the first floor of the new building there are rooms for the city clerk's office, the office of chief of police. five jail cells, and two apparatus rooms for the fire department. The basement which extends over about half the floor space of the building, has room for the oil-burning furnace which circulates heat to every room in the building, and also provides abundant storage room.

On the second floor there is a room for a city council chamber, a meeting place for the Chamber of Commerce, a firemen's meeting room and living quarters for one fireman who will be on duty all the time. The firemen's living quarters consist of bedroom, lavatory and kitchen.

REINFORCED CONCRETE

The building is constructed of reinforced concrete. with steel windows. The floors will all be of concrete covered bl linoleum. The architecture is very modern and was planned by George C. Sellon, prominent Sacramento architect.

The Works Progress Administration has furnished all the labor except for a few skilled mechanics hired by the city. C. A. Wilke, who is superintending the job, has been working here since September, when he completed the new Roseville city hall.

The finish of the front will be of white cement plaster, while the sides and back will be covered with white stucco wash. Inside the walls will be painted according to a color scheme suggested by the architect.

DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST GRASS VALLEY DOCTOR

Two former patients of Dr. R. P. Landis of Grass Valley have filed actions against the physician for alleged negligence in treating them in the line of professional practice. Lillian Davey of Grass Valley asks $20,000 damages for a burn and scar caused by alleged excessive electric current that was applied to her neck for an excssive length of time during a treatment. Mrs. Sylvia Benson brings the second action. She seeks $20,000 general damages and $500 for medical bills incurred in hospitalization and physician's services for illness arising from an allegedly negligent abdominal operation performed by Dr. Landis. Lowell & Lowell and A. M. Mull Jr. are attorneys for the plaintiffs, Miss Davey and Mrs. Benson in the two cases.
